Title of Project: ArTguments: Towards the automatic identification of exclusionary argumentative biases in contemporary Western art

Dear John and Ulrike,

The above non-routine application has been given ethical approval by the School of Science ethics committee. You must have an up-to-date DBS if working with minors, even if you are doing online studies. Please refer to the reference number for all future communications.

You should be aware that it is you and your supervisor's responsibility to report any unexpected problems or events arising from the research that might have adverse consequences for you and/or your participants. In the first instance, please discuss with your supervisor who will advise you as to whether the problem causes a change to the planned research and needs further ethical approval from the committee. If so, please submit a revised application giving details of why this is necessary. In addition, it is your responsibility to ensure that your DBS (if required) remains current. If you are PI, please be aware you are responsible for all the researchers involved.

Approval for this study expires October 2028. If the study is still ongoing at this time, please submit a renewal of ethical approval form that can be found on the departmental webpage.

Please retain this certificate for your records.

Good luck with the research.
